The Press Gathering.

We regret that our space is so limited that we cannot give a full description of the recent meeting and excursion of the Kentucky Press Association, and will have to content ourselves with simply giving a brief outline of the main features.

On the morning of the 8th inst. the members of the press from Louisville and the western part of the State arrived in this city, and we, together with Col. Johnston, wife and daughter, Mr. D. C. Barrett, Miss Florence Barrett, and Major Bedee joined them at the depot and proceeded to Lexington, where we met the delegation from the northern and central parts of the State. At 3 o'clock, p. m., we took a special train, kindly furnished by the Kentucky Central Railroad, under the charge of Mr. Jas. C. Ernst, General Ticket and Passenger Agent of that road, and proceeded to Maysville. At Paris, Millersburg, and Carlisle our numbers were reinforced, and by the time we reached Maysville we were more than a hundred strong.

At Lexington there was no demonstration of any kind, but at Paris, where there was a stoppage of twenty minutes, the fire department was ordered out and gave a fine display, while a string band discoursed sweet music from the balcony of the new court-house during the exhibition. At Millersburg, Currier's famous string band from Cincinnati, which was there for the purpose of playing at a college commencement, met us at the depot and favored us with some choice selections, and at Carlisle a large crowd assembled to wish us a pleasant trip.

On the way to Maysville the "Blue-Grass Route" furnished the excursionists with fans and refreshments, consisting of sandwiches and iced champagne. All partook of the former, and most of the gentlemen, and, we are sorry to say, some of the ladies, the latter.

At Maysville the Baldwin Guards, with a band of music, met the train, and escorted the editors through the principal streets to the Central Hotel, carriages being furnished for the ladies. Hon. Sprig Shackelford, the Mayor, delivered an address of welcome from the balcony of the hotel, which was responded to by Col. Johnston, and then the party repaired to the dining room, where an elegant supper was spread to which we did ample justice. At each plate was placed a beautiful button-hole bouquet with a pin beside it, giving evidence of the presence of some of Maysville's lovely daughters a few moments before. The Central is kept by Messrs. Simonds & McMurtry, both of whom were for a short time connected with the Capital Hotel, in this city, after Mr. F. B. McLean took charge of it, and they are making a first-class house of the Central.

At 11:30 o'clock, p. m., the elegant new steamer, the Bostona, arrived and took the party on board and conveyed them to Ashland, where we arrived at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. The citizens met us at the wharf with a band of music, and as we filed from the boat cannons were fired and the air was rent with cheers. All were assigned comfortable homes, most of the Frankfort party being located at the Hotel Aldine. Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock the business meeting was held, and the following officers of the Association elected for the ensuing year: President, Col. J. Stoddard Johnston, Kentucky Yeoman; Vice President, K. B. Grahn, Greenup Independent; Secretary, Thos. G. Stewart, Clark County Democrat; Treasurer, W. B. Haldeman, Courier-Journal. G. Allison Holland, of the Eminence Constitutional, was selected to deliver the annual address at the next meeting, and Mrs. E. D. Potts, of Lancaster, the annual poem. At night a public meeting was held, at which an address of welcome was delivered by Judge W. C. Ireland, which was responded to by Col. Johnston. Judge W. M. Beckner delivered the annual address, and Mrs. Nellie Marshall McAfee the poem. At 9 o'clock Thursday morning we took the train on the Eastern Division of the Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad and proceeded to the Coalton Coal Mines, about fifteen miles from Ashland. Here we were put into the small cars used in bringing coal from the mines, and pulled into the drift, part of the way by means of an endless wire rope driven by an engine, and part of the way by mules. The drift runs clear through the hill, a distance of a mile and a half, and we were taken the entire distance, inspecting the mines as we proceeded by the light of the small miners' lamps with which each gentleman had been furnished at the entrance. Returning to the entrance we sat down to an elegant lunch which Mr. John Means had caused to be spread on the side of the mountain, and did ample justice to the many good things before us. Dr. G. W. Wroten, who was elected surgeon to the Frankfort party, prescribed a liberal supply of cheese and lemonade for his patients, and his directions were so willingly followed that it required one waiter to keep a supply at our end of the table. Returning to Ashland the Ashland Furnace and Norton Iron Works were inspected and proved very interesting. These large establishments, together with the Coalton mines, are run by the same company and employ 800 hands.

At night Mr. John Means gave a reception to the members of the press and citizens of Ashland at his residence, which was an elegant affair.

Friday morning we took the steamer Fleetwood and repaired to Ironton, Ohio, a distance of four miles down the river. At the Sarah Furnace we disembarked and were met by the Mayor of Ironton who welcomed us in a neat speech, which Col. Johnston responded to, and after inspecting the Sarah, Etna, Grant and Belfont Furnaces, the Water Works, the Iron and Steel Works, Belfont and Lawrence Iron Works, and Tyler Hoe Works, we were driven in carriages through the principal streets of the city to the public school, where we were met by a bevy of the young misses who attached a beautiful button-hole bouquet to each gentleman's coat. After visiting the several departments of the school, we were conducted across the street to the Congregational Church, where an organ concert was given, and Miss Kate Campbell, a young lady who had just returned from an eight years' sojourn in Europe for the purpose of perfecting her musical education, favored us with some beautiful songs. Leaving the church we witnessed a display by the Fire Department, and then sat down to a lunch prepared by the ladies of Ironton at Union Hall, where we were bountifully supplied with all the delicacies of the season, not excepting the "cheese and lemonade." Speeches were made by Gov. Chas. Anderson and Hon. Green R. Keller, of our party, and Capt. Williams, of Ironton, and then we took leave of our Buckeye friends and returned to Ashland.

In the afternoon many attended the races at Ashland Driving Park and enjoyed themselves until six o'clock, when we again took the Fleetwood and steamed five miles up the river to Catlettsburg. We were met by a committee at the wharf and escorted up into the city, and after viewing the place we repaired to Morse's Opera House, where Col. Laban T. Moore welcomed us in a short speech and was responded to by Judge Beckner on the part of the Association. After the exercises at the hall an elegant supper was spread at the Alger House which was greatly enjoyed by all. At 10:30, p. m., the older portion of the party returned to Ashland, but the young people remained to the hop given by the young men of Catlettsburg.

At 7 o'clock Saturday morning we took final leave of Ashland, and proceeded to Huntington, West Virginia, stopping at Catlettsburg for those who had attended the hop, and at 10 o'clock took the cars for White Sulphur Springs. We were here taken in charge by Major N. H. Hotchkiss, General Passenger Agent of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, who left nothing undone to make the trip pleasant in every particular. After passing through the valley of the Guyan river to Scary Station, where the first battle was fought in West Virginia during the late war, Gen. Garfield commanding the Federal and Gen. Jenkins the Confederate forces, thence we proceeded up the valleys of the Kanawha, New, and Greenbrier rivers, viewing some of the grandest scenery on this continent, and arrived at our destination at 8 o'clock p. m. As we stepped from the train the first familiar face that greeted our eyes was that of Dr. C. B. Chinn, of this county, who was spending a few weeks in the mountains for his health.

After a little delay we were all comfortably located in cottages about the grounds, and after a good supper in the mammoth dining room, retired for the night and had the most refreshing sleep we had enjoyed since leaving home. The next day was spent by most of the party in walking about the beautiful grounds and visiting the various objects of interest, and many attended church and heard two able sermons by Dr. Cottrell, of Bowling Green, who made the trip with us, being one of the editors of the Central Methodist.

In keeping up the custom of Frankfort people, of going to the depot when the train comes in, Sunday morning, we were so fortunate as to meet our old friend, W. H. Garing, who will be remembered by many of our readers as the Grand Worthy Counselor of the Good Templars of Kentucky, who, several years ago, delivered a number of lectures in this city. He has retired from the lecture field and is post-master at White Sulphur. Although advanced in years he looks as young as he did ten years ago, and seemed delighted to meet all the Kentuckians.

At 9:45 Monday morning we turned our faces homeward. Arriving at Huntington at 8 o'clock, we took the steamer Buckeye State, and arrived at Maysville at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, too late to take the train for Lexington, and had to remain until the afternoon. Just after leaving Huntington, Gov. Anderson, in walking in the dark, was so unfortunate as to fall down the steps of the steamer and break the little finger of his right hand, and bruise himself so badly as to have to stop at Catlettsburg for medical attention. When we reached Catlettsburg a beautiful sight met the view. All of the houses on the river front were brilliantly illuminated, and cannons were fired in honor of our return.

Leaving Maysville at 1:30 p. m., we arrived at Lexington at 5, having parted with the greater portion of our party at Paris, those from Louisville and Southern Kentucky taking the Kentucky Central to Cincinnati, where they took the Short Line at night for Louisville.

The balance of the Frankfort party succeeded in catching a pay car at Lexington, and arrived home Tuesday night, but not being at the hotel when they started we "got left," and did not arrive until the next morning.

"The boys" wish to return thanks for the compliments they have received on their maiden effort at journalism last week. They promise something better during the next press convention.

A Card.

Editor Roundabout:

Why will not the paid city police protect the ladies, who complain of the gentlemen's chairs, sitting and standing crowds, on the foot-ways adjacent to the Yeoman office, chatting over matters, smoking, chewing and spitting tobacco; their diffidence and modesty requiring them to cross the street, or contract their garments to their soiled boots?

The expenditure of brain power to a point or too severely in children often results in physical debility; the use of Fowler's Symplyphosphites exerts a singularly happy effect in such cases.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second class mailable matter.

TERMS.

The WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT is published every Saturday, at one dollar per annum, invariably in advance.

Six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents. Money may be sent by post-office money order, or registered letter at our risk.

Notices of Marriages, Births, and Deaths inserted free of charge. Obituary notices will be charged for at our regular advertising rates.

If your ROUNDABOUT is marked on the first page with a red X it indicates that your subscription has expired and must be renewed before you receive another paper.

Little Harry Green, eldest child of J. G. Green, the blind man who keeps the first toll-gate on the Georgetown pike, died Wednesday, after an illness of three weeks. He was a bright little fellow, and the joy of his parents. We sympathize with them in their sore bereavement.

Chinn-Julian.

The Christian Church was literally packed with people Wednesday night to witness the marriage of Dr. Geo. W. Chinn, of Bridgeport, and Miss Jennie Julian, of this county. The pulpit was tastefully decorated with rare and beautiful plants and flowers, and over the space where the expectant bride and groom were to stand were suspended two floral pipes of peace.

Elder Geo. Darsie officiated in his happiest style, and Professor J. O. Mauer presided at the organ with a grace and ease all his own, and brought out its sweetest strains of music.

After the ceremony was performed, a few invited guests were elegantly entertained at the residence of Mrs. M. J. Gaines, on Clinton street.

The best wishes of innumerable friends are entertained for the happiness and prosperity of the newly wedded couple.

FRANKFORT, JUNE 19, 1889.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN CITY AND COUNTY.

TO TRAVELERS.

On and after April 23rd, 1879, trains on the L. C. & L. R. R. will leave Frankfort daily (Sundays excepted) as follows:

TRAINS WEST.

No. 4. Leave Frankfort.....8:15 a. m.
No. 12. Leave Frankfort.....2:50 p. m.

TRAINS EAST.

No. 9. Leave Frankfort.....9:04 a. m.
No. 11. Leave Frankfort.....5:40 p. m.

The 2:50 P. M. train will make close connection, as formerly, for Cincinnati.

E. P. BRYAN, Agent.

The Governor's mansion is being newly painted.

The State House dome has just received a new coat of paint.

The probabilities are that we will have a free bridge next week.

Mr. Robt. W. Lawler has our thanks for late files of Denver, Col., papers.

Our correspondents will greatly oblige us by writing on one side of the paper only.

A new watch-tower has been erected on the northeast corner of the penitentiary walls.

Our correspondents will please bear in mind that we cannot advertise free of charge in this paper.

A Cincinnati firm has bought all the bonds recently issued by the city of Frankfort, for which they paid $1,051 56 cash.

The person who lost a paper of new brass stair rod fastenings can get them by calling at this office and paying for this notice.

The grocery store near the tollgate on the Georgetown pike, two miles east of the city, was destroyed by fire on Thursday night of last week. Loss about $1,200. It was supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

Next Thursday is the regular meeting of Frankfort Council, No. 7, Royal Templars of Temperance, and as the officers for the ensuing six months will be elected at that time, a full attendance of the members is requested.

The residence of Mr. W. O. Parker, in South Frankfort, was entered by a burglar last Saturday night, the family being from home at the time. As nothing of value was missed, it is supposed he was frightened away before he had a chance to search the house.

The Sheriff of Fayette county arrived in this city Wednesday afternoon with nineteen prisoners for the penitentiary. One of them, a colored lad sixteen years old, has six fingers on each hand, has served two terms in the penitentiary before, and now comes for life.

Mr. Sam Sayres has rented the house on Main street formerly occupied by Dr. J. S. Price, and will keep a first-class boarding house. Mrs. Sayres is well known as a first class caterer, and will, no doubt, have as many boarders, as soon as she moves in, as she can accommodate.

Mr. H. J. Hyde, the census enumerator for South Frankfort, having concluded his work, desires any who have accidentally been omitted to notify him, and he will call on them at their residences:

Miss Ruby Macklin, in attempting to cross Main street Wednesday morning, in front of a wagon, fell and came near being run over by the team. In trying to break the fall she threw out her hands, and her weight coming down upon them, fractured one of the small bones of the right hand.

Mr. John C. Mastin, of Woodford county, and Miss Cecil Vaughn, of this city, were quietly married at the residence of Major H. T. Stanton, in South Frankfort, in the presence of a few friends, Thursday evening. The couple left immediately for their future home in Woodford county.

Attention to Orders!

The McCreary Guards will have a full dress drill Monday night, June 21st. Members will take notice and govern themselves accordingly. By order of
W. G. THOMPSON,
Captain Commanding.

Col J. W. Hunt Reynolds has a four-legged chicken preserved in alcohol, which was hatched on his farm this year. It lived five days, and was as lively a chicken during that period as ever scratched dirt. The two extra legs were not quite long enough to reach to the ground when the little chick was standing, but in walking, the legs were kept in motion like the two legs proper.

Mr. James Grimes, who lives on the Lawrenceburg pike, about a mile from the city limits, and a well-known character in this community, started to walk into town yesterday morning, and when in front of Mr. Nicholas Flynn's residence, at the old base ball grounds, he fell dead in the road. Coroner McEwan was notified and summoned a jury, who, after full examination, returned a verdict of death from neuralgia of the heart.

Terrible Accident.

Mr. G. Finnie Graham, of this city, who has for some time been employed as a bridge builder on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad and its branches, was at work with a number of others on a bridge near Baker's Station, on the St. Louis and South-eastern Road, about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, when a train came on the bridge before they were aware of its presence. The workmen had to run for their lives, and Mr. Graham stumbling, fell on the track, and before he could get out of the way the engine passed over him, cutting off both hands and the right foot. The engine was reversed, and, before it could be stopped, backed over him cutting off the right leg above the knee. He lived until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The sad news was telegraphed to this city, and fell with crushing effect upon his already heavily afflicted family, who have the deepest sympathy of his numerous friends and the community generally. He leaves a wife and two little children. The remains arrived in this city Thursday morning, and the funeral, which took place from his mother's residence in the afternoon, was largely attended.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

Bridgeport.

Plenty of rain.
Farm hands are scarce.
The harvest is upon us.
Enough tobacco plants for all.
Mrs. Ben. Morrison is very ill.
Corn and oats are growing finely.
Mr. A. C. Taylor, who has been ill, is improving.

Mrs. A. A. Powers, who has been ill, is now convalescent.

Miss Julia Dickerson is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ratliffe, near Farmdale.

Girls, why did you read the ROUNDABOUT of last week with so much interest?

Mr. E. R. Hedges has purchased of Mr. Wm. Powers, and others, a number of sheep.

Miss Peggy Crockett, of Frankfort, was visiting Misses Jacque and Cordie Jackson last week.

Misses Ella Owen, of Eminence, Hattie Radelyt, of Simpsonville, and Lena Smith, of Peytona, who have been visiting at Mr. Wm. Scofield's, have returned to their homes.

The young ladies of Bridgeport request us to inform the editors of last week's ROUNDABOUT that they do not sit under awnings and eat ginger bread and peanuts when they go to Frankfort.

[We would not be guilty of calling the young ladies of Bridgeport "country girls"—ex-Eds.]

Jacksonville.

The corn crop is looking prosperous.

Everything in the vegetable line looks well since the late rain.

The majority of our farmers are done setting out tobacco plants.

Tobacco worms are expected to be numerous this season, from their early appearance.

Mr. G. W. Vaughn lost a nice "cap" of honey, by an accident caused by the violent wind, last Monday.

The death of Mrs. Attawa Williams, on the night of the 5th inst., was very unexpected to relatives and friends.

Quite a lively time is expected this summer, picnicking and tripping the light, fantastic toe, especially on the third of July.

Rev. L. W. P. Hulet and his wife have gone to housekeeping with as much ease and grace as though they had been in the business forty years.

There wasn't any excitement in this part of the country at all over the election for school trustees. Everything passed off decently and orderly.

We expect quite a lively constable race in Benson precinct the ensuing August. Allison and Bryant are the gentleman who will cause the enthusiasm.

One of Bagdad's fair belles has taken one of Jacksonville's brightest young men for a companion through this lonely world. May they live long and prosper.

We are glad to learn that our neighboring village, Bridgeport, will be rebuilt, for it has been a place noted for sobriety, industry, and general intelligence for years.

We have had quite a number of marriages this month. For the month of June it has been rather remarkable for so many ceremonial rights to be performed. Even Ministers of the Gospel have taken up the Cross.

The marriage of Mr. Wm. Haydon to Miss Ethia Linda Johnson was an interesting event, which took place at the residence of the bride's father on the night of the 3d inst. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. W. P. Hulet in a very impressive manner.

Lewis.

Editor Roundabout:

Let me remind the city authorities that at the junction of Lewis street alley and Wapping street, corner of the Baptist Church property, on the river bank, is a precipice of twenty or more feet exposure and a stone wall, where a cart went over and a horse was killed; more recently two men tumbled over and were dangerously injured—for lack of protection of a raised wall or plank fence. These men were strongly advised to bring suit against the city for heavy damages for their neglect to protect their streets and alleys against liability of danger to limb and life. G.

Belle Point.

Miss Jennie Oliver was visiting friends over here last week.

The Pierian Club will meet with Miss Florence Collins next Tuesday night.

Rev. Ben Deering will preach at the Chapel to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Misses Florence, Parnelia, and Jennie Collins visited Mrs. S. V. Pence last week.

Mrs. Lucy O'Connor, of Louisville, is visiting friends and relatives here this week.

Mr. Sam. Todd left for Lockport Tuesday. He has been engaged as assistant engineer on Lock No. 1.

Mr. A. H. Crutcher made a business trip to Mt. Sterling this week in the interest of R. N. Archer & Co.

Messrs. J. W. Gault & Co. have burnt a large kiln of brick and will have another ready to burn next week.

Quite a number of charming young ladies of Frankfort visited Mrs. Judge Pence last Saturday evening.

Our Sunday-school, with Rev. Ben Deering as Superintendent, is in a flourishing condition. New scholars are coming in every Sunday.

The Debating Club, composed of young men from Frankfort and Belle Point, meets every Tuesday night. Doors are not open to the public yet.

At the election for School Trustees, held the first Saturday in this month, Messrs. Geo. A. Robertson and Jno. L. Ziegler were elected by a handsome majority.

Judge Pence cut his pontoon bridge loose at one end, Monday afternoon, to keep it from washing, as there was a "boom" in Benson. It was replaced Wednesday.

Miss Mary Lynch's school closed Wednesday, after a very successful term. The scholars and patrons were well pleased with her and are very anxious to have her take the school again this fall. She gave her pupils a picnic Thursday in Lake Park, where they all spent a pleasant day, swinging, playing croquet, and other innocent amusements.

The excursion to Lock, No. 5, on Col. Pence's new boat, "Kentucky River Accommodation," last Sunday, was a grand success, which could not have been otherwise, with Pence as captain, and our handsome young merchant, Mr. F. P. Lewis, as mate. The boat showed a speed of about seven miles an hour. There were about one hundred and twenty-five persons aboard. Good order was maintained all the way, which was owing, a good deal, to there being no liquor aboard, and Col. Pence assures us that he will not allow anything intoxicating on the boat, or any one under the influence of liquor. There will be another excursion next Sunday, when every one who wishes to avail themselves of a pleasant trip and the beautiful scenery which the Kentucky river affords, should by all means go.
